A letter/message from CQAF founder and chairperson

Hannah Chen
CQAF Founder

To all quality professionals interested:

China Quality Assurance Forum (CQAF), as a leading platform for communication among quality professionals in the pharmaceutical industry in China, has continuously improved and optimized its organization in our mission to support and contribute to the healthy development of the industry. Under the leadership of its founders, past chairpersons, the core team, and industry leaders, with the support of its members, relevant industry associations, and collaborative efforts, our organization has been committed to this path.

Sally Zhang
CQAF Chairperson

The healthy development of the industry is closely tied to each of us. To excel in quality work, it requires specialized skills, an open mindset, inclusive perspectives, outstanding collaboration, alignment with business objectives, and a spirit of continuous improvement.

We look forward to more connections with you as quality professionals, providing valuable information, education and networking opportunities.

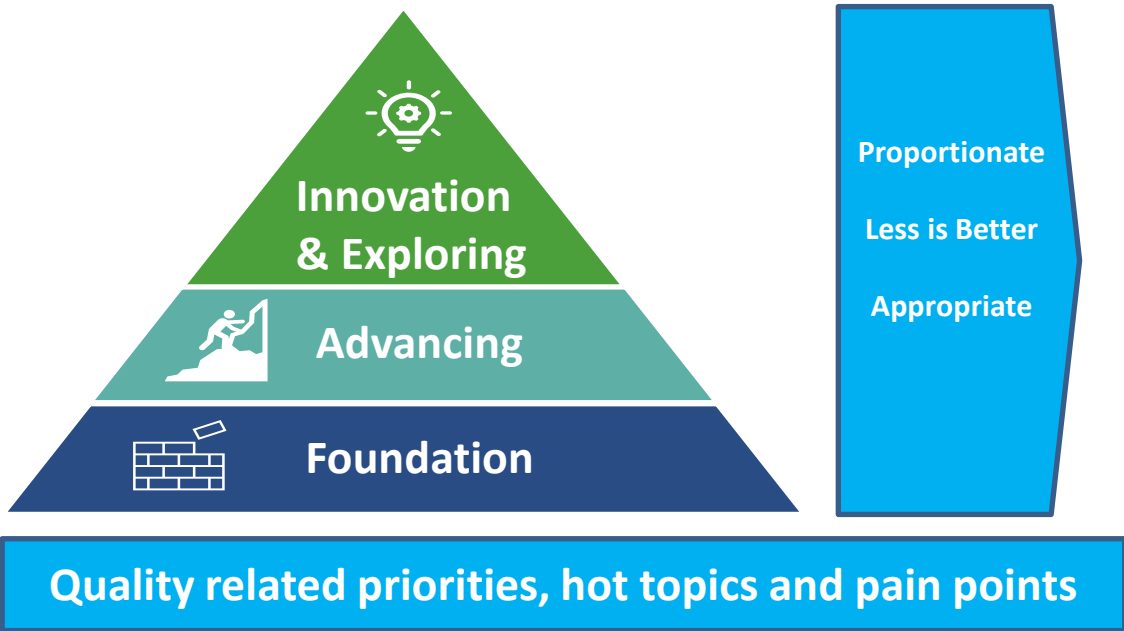

Wish you all the best!

Hannah Chen & Sally Zhang
